Experience Cold War History at Nike Hercules Missile Site HM-69 inside Everglades National Park

At the brink of nuclear war in 1962, President Kennedy navigated uncharted waters between the U.S. and Cuba. A peaceful end to the Cuban Missile Crisis was negotiated, however it led to the construction of missile sites throughout South Florida. One of these sentinels can still be found within Everglades National Park.

Enjoy Tours of the Missile Site, Nike Films and Stories from the Cold War.
